If a picture speaks a thousand words... think what we can do for you.

Business and consumers are starting to get a feel of technology. Our computers, our printers and our wireless phone are the technology we all love to use.

At times there was those who embraced this technology and jumped right on it and then the late boomers came on.

Wireless phones we take everywhere have actually changed the way we do business and technology has entered our yellow pages that will make our ideas unique. The challenge becomes deciding which tools and methods to use. The tools we have to make our yellow page ad are inspiring images with digital pictures, graphics with millions of colors, streaming audio, streaming video and applications that will help business cut through the clutter and connect with customers. It's about being smart with strategies while your being creative.

No Other Medium Can Touch It!

Video combines the visual impact of television. The video ad can present your message in such a logical and compelling way, there is no better way to educate, demonstrate and motivate busy buying decision makers.

Video

Video: Quickly adds strong visual and audio impact; it is cost efficient and combines sight, sound and motion. The presentation is fresh, consistent and the impact on the 100th viewing is as effective as the first.

"The future of business is, inexplicably intertwined, with technology."

*"Ideas shape perspective.
Insight pushes inspiration.
Technology meets creativity.
Innovation happens."*

Customers Prefer Video

When given the choice, three out of four prospective customers will request a video over print.

Your Sales Reps Won't know How They Managed Without It

The video can take your best presentation and bring it to life using state-of-art media technologies that combine sight, sound and motion. Unlike your sales reps, the video will never have an off day or take a day off. The presentation is fresh, consistent and the impact on the 100th viewing is as effective as the first.

Why use Marketing Video's?

Research proves it! The Warton School of Business, University of Pennsylvania conducted a major research study on print verse video. Their conclusion showed that well produced video increased information retention by 50% and buying decision by 72% over a print brochure. When given the choice three out of four prospective customers will request a video over print. On the positive side consumers want information about products, services and companies, but they want only the information they are interested in and only when they need it. Yellow pages delivers that information.

"Branding Your Business"

A brand exists in peoples mind – Brand qualities are thoughts, feelings, associations and expectations. Brand identity is the way in which a Brand is expressed visually and verbally.

Audio

With audio the business can creatively and successfully deliver the messages to be heard and remembered. Make your ad stand out and give even better impression and highlight the most important information about your ad. Reinforce what they see by giving them something they can hear as well. A larger portion of communications is sound.

Video Yellow Pages Global explores the outer reaches of the digital on-line, searching for new tools and applications that will help your business.

Video Yellow Pages Global brings ideas to life and add dynamic dimensions to each communications and make brands more relevant to today's consumer.
